Dear Readers, Esteemed Authors, and Dedicated Reviewers,

A Heartfelt Welcome to Volume 04, Issue 02 (April-June 2025) of Shodh Sari: An International Multidisciplinary Journal

With immense pleasure, the Editorial Team of Shodh Sari extends its warmest greetings as we present Volume 04, Issue 02, covering April to June 2025. This edition marks our continued commitment to fostering intellectual discourse and disseminating impactful research across diverse disciplines.

On behalf of the entire Editorial Board, I express our profound appreciation to our diligent authors for entrusting us with their valuable research and to our esteemed reviewers for their crucial role in maintaining the journal's rigor and quality through their voluntary expertise.

Shodh Sari: A Nexus for Interdisciplinary Dialogue and Scholarly Advancement

Shodh Sari- An International Multidisciplinary Journal is a peer-reviewed platform dedicated to the exchange of ideas and information relevant to education, health, and community welfare. We aim to connect faculty and researchers, fostering advancements across various domains. Our primary focus is original research in education spanning all levels and disciplines, alongside occasional significant meta-analyses. While valuing empirical rigor, we typically do not publish studies solely on the reliability and validity of specific assessment tools, prioritizing broader substantive findings.

Embracing Multidisciplinary Perspectives for Real-World Impact

Shodh Sari is committed to the rapid dissemination of high-quality, practically useful research across disciplines. We particularly encourage multidisciplinary approaches to address complex real-world challenges. Our vision is a relevant, challenging, thought-provoking, and inclusive publication that embraces diverse perspectives.

The Symbiotic Relationship Between Rigorous Research and Effective Publication

Research is a demanding process requiring meticulous planning and time management. For researchers juggling experiments, reports, publications, and administrative tasks, effective time management is crucial for productivity.

Equally important is the publication of research in peer-reviewed journals. This shares findings with peers, provides valuable feedback, and offers numerous benefits for researchers, including career advancement, professional recognition, collaboration opportunities, increased visibility, societal impact, credibility, professional development, inspiration for future work, and contribution to their field. Publishing establishes expertise and opens doors for growth.

The Pervasive Influence of Academic Research on Human Civilization

Academic research profoundly impacts all levels of human civilization, driving practical and cultural progress. From everyday conveniences to advancements in health, research continuously improves our lives. Evidence-based findings also play a crucial role in shaping understanding and influencing perspectives, fostering informed decision-making and societal progress.

Looking Ahead: Fostering Excellence and Empowering the Research Community

We anticipate this issue will contribute significantly to scholarly discourse. We welcome your suggestions for enhancing the quality and usefulness of Shodh Sari. We also invite volunteers with expertise in quality assessment to support our mission of providing a high-quality platform for the research community's welfare and empowerment.

Thank you for your continued engagement with Shodh Sari.
