Empowering the next generation of change-makers, the Sophia-linked ICERT Education Division successfully co-organized the Indo-Global Adolescent Summit (IGAS-2024) in Kathmandu, Nepal, from June 10-12, 2024. Held at the Himalayan College of Management (HCM), this summit focused on the critical theme: "Environmental Sustainability Design: Challenges & Solutions".

Igniting Sustainable Innovation The summit provided a platform for adolescents aged 13-18 to engage with global experts on pressing environmental issues. Participants explored diverse sub-themes aligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, including:

- Climate & Energy: Tackling global warming, renewable energy, and green computing.
- Conservation: Addressing biodiversity crisis, deforestation, and wildlife management.
- Healthy Life for All: Exploring the link between environmental justice, hunger, and universal health.
- Circular Economy: Strategies for "Reduce, Reuse, Recycle" and e-waste management.

Key Summit Highlights:

- Indo-Global Student Legislature: A Model United Nations (MUN) simulation where students stepped into the roles of global influencers to debate parliamentary processes and decision-making at the UN.
- Global Environmental Ambassador Awards: Exceptional students were recognized for their innovative designs and presentations assessed by a panel of international experts.

- Knowledge Exchange: High-level sessions included Keynote Addresses, Fireside Chats, and Panel Discussions, allowing students to voice their "Young Voices" on global citizenship and eco-schooling.
- Publication: Selected research articles by students were featured in Eduphoria-An International Multidisciplinary Magazine.
